Company Member Spotlight

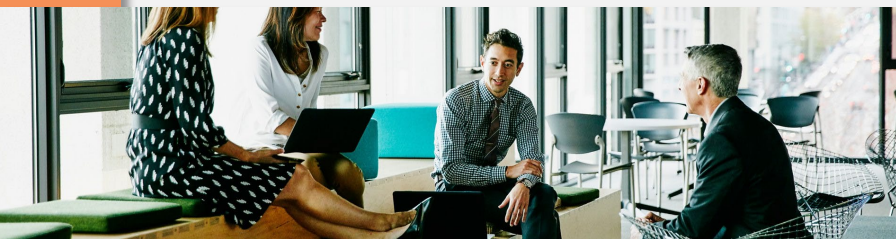

Rev 0 Consulting was founded in 2016 with a simple belief: when leaders and employees grow and thrive personally, their organization will too. We approach our clients with fresh eyes to create customized, unique strategies to develop high-performing people and organizations with an emphasis in executive and technical leadership coaching.

Dain Johnson, Owner

We make brilliant people great leaders

Our Mission.

Rev 0 understands that an organization's potential is limited only by the continual development of its leaders. Dain coaches technical experts toward navigating complex, people problems in fields such as aerospace, engineering, energy, manufacturing, and IT. We believe that good work is a part of a good life, and we know that leaders - from front line managers to CEO - have an over-weight impact on the people in a business. We want to enable them to have a positive impact..
